Three Austrian Children Enroll At Clearview School; Quickly Adjust Selves To American, English Language

By Leonard Randolph

American Education week has taken on a new meaning for students and teachers at Clearview school in Stroud township — a meaning contained in the names of three young people: Helen, Roswitha, Franz Zoeller, and a twentieth-century label—displaced persons.

The children came to Stroudsburg with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ignato Zoeller, from Austria. The elder Zoellers are employed by Dr. W. B. Shulman at his Hickory Valley farm. They were born in Yugoslavia but had lived in Austria most of their lives. The Zoeller family arrived in America aboard the S. S. General Taylor November 6. The three children entered Clearview school for the first time last week.

NEW STUDENTS at Clearview school are these three young Austrian "displaced persons"—Roswitha, Helene and Franz Zoeller. The story of their reaction to America and its reaction to them is told below. (Daily Record Photo)

The story behind that first week's adjustment, on the part of the three young children, their classmates and the faculty of the school, reads like a primer in democracy.

When Helene, Roswitha and Franz came to the school on Thursday, November 8, Rex Harding, principal of the school, brought in several students in the fourth and sixth grades who had training in conversational German, a regular feature of the school's extra-curricular activity.

The difficult (and often painful) job of "breaking the ice" was, in effect, turned over to the students. According to reports from teachers the experiment was successful in more ways than one — now the pupils who had been studying foreign languages with mild enthusiasm have renewed their efforts with a new and inspired zeal. The idea of being able to actually "use" the language in everyday life has provided that "once in a lifetime" boost in pupil interest every teacher hopes for.

Teachers who have the Zoeller children in their classrooms have been brushing up their German, also, with the result that Clearview has become an almost multilingual school.

An appeal from school officials brought an offer for assistance from Mrs. Clarence Transue, wife of one of the faculty members. Mrs. Transue knew from experience what sort of trouble the children were going to have, the handicaps they would be forced to overcome — she had come to America from Berlin at the age of ten.

Mrs. Transue worked with the children during the first two days, helping them to understand instruction and class assignments and explaining their new environment.

During these first days at the school, Helene and Roswitha remained tense and slightly ill-at-ease. Franz—the oldest and heartiest—adjusted more rapidly, ate a full dinner and displayed an immediate eagerness for learning.

Helene — a small, fragile six-year-old with deep-set, querulous eyes — is assigned to the first grade under Mrs. Mabel Shook. Helene has learned "extremely well" by imitation and vocal repetition, is now able to repeat English phrases after her teacher and identify some things (such as "candy") in her new language.

According to Mrs. Shook "the biggest problem has been one of adjustment" — a problem which the teacher believes has been partly eliminated.

In the fourth grade, 10-year-old Roswitha has learned to identify objects within the room by association with words. This was accomplished through a simple device of "labelling" the windows, doors, blackboards and chairs with small cards upon which were printed the words for the object.

Annabelle Nearing, fourth-grade teacher has assigned Roswitha to another interesting and informative project from which she will gain a practical knowledge of the language. This project consists of cutting pictures from a mail-order catalog and pasting them on pieces of paper. Ros-

Eric Johnston Resigns As ESA Director

Washington, (AP) — President Truman accepted the resignation of Eric Johnston as head of the Economic Stabilization agency (ESA) yesterday "with real regret" and "extreme reluctance."

Johnston, who has been trying to get back to his job as president of the Motion Picture association, will now leave the government November 30.

The acceptance of the resignation was announced at Mr. Truman's vacation headquarters in Key West, Fla. In an exchange of letters, Mr. Truman thanked Johnston for building ESA — the government's chief agency in the fight against inflation — into an "efficient and going concern to cope with the problems that lie ahead."

Johnston's departure sped up efforts that were already underway to find a successor. Seven or eight persons have been approached, it was learned here, but the wage-price-rent policy job has found no takers.

Some administration advisers were said to have emphasized that Mr. Truman should appoint an ESA administrator who has the confidence of organized labor.

These advisers contend that wages will be the major stabilization problem in the next six months instead of prices. Major unions — notably CO Steelworkers — are entering contract talks with demands which would fracture the wage ceiling.

Some officials have noticed the opinion privately that the government will be forced to give ground on wage increases to avert defense-crippling strikes in steel, coal or other essential industries.

P'ane Found; All 36 Dead

Chambon-Sur-Lac, France, (AP) — A U. S. Air Force Flying Boxcar, lost two days ago in swirling snow, rain and fog, was found crashed and burned yesterday on the snow-mantled Mont Dore range. All the 36 Americans aboard were killed.

The C-82 plane apparently had missed by only about 50 feet a defile leading to a 5,000-foot-high plateau, where an emergency landing might have been made.

U. S. Air Force headquarters in Germany said the names of the dead will be announced Saturday, after the customary notice is given to next of kin.

The victims were 29 airmen en route from Frankfurt to Bordeaux to establish a U. S. motor pool, a soldier returning to Bordeaux from leave in Germany, and the crew of six.

Mother, Child Doing Well After Rare Delivery

San Pedro, Calif., (AP) — The successful delivery of "a one in several million" baby—after an abdominal pregnancy—was announced yesterday by physicians at San Pedro Community hospital.

The fully-developed baby, Madalene Rose Drake, was born Monday night to Mrs. James Drake, wife of a ship's engineer and mother of two other children. The baby weighed seven pounds, 9½ ounces.

Both mother and child are doing well the doctors reported, but Mrs. Drake is being fed intravenously.

The delivery was through Caesarean section.

Physicians said an abdominal pregnancy is so rare that only 328 cases have been listed in medical journals since 1813, and these include only 80 instances where both mother and child survived.

The Drake's two other children are Richard, 16, and Judy, 12.

Prohibition Party Selects Nominees

Indianapolis, (AP) — The Prohibition party yesterday named as its 1952 presidential-candidate Stuart Hamblen, cowboy singer, evangelist and composer.

Hamblen, whose home is in Arcadia, Calif., slipped in as a dark-horse candidate. His name was not included in pre-convention speculation.

Dr. Enoch Arden Holwick of Greenville, Ill., was Hamblen's only opponent. The nomination went to the Californian by a vote of 74 to 41.

Dr. Holwick was then nominated for vice president and was chosen unanimously.

Reds Deny Seeking Cease-Fire Before Signing Of Armistice But Insist Line Be Settled

Munsan, Korea, Friday, (AP) — Communist negotiators denied yesterday they sought a cease-fire in Korea before the formal signing of an armistice, but continued to insist that the United Nations agree to a provisional stop-shooting line now.

The apparently paradoxical Communist stand was pointed out sharply in a United Nations communique last night. It reported no progress yesterday in a three hour 20-minute subcommittee session at Panmunjom.

However the subcommittees met for the 23rd time at Panmunjom at 11 a. m. today (9 p. m., Thursday, EST).

"We're just about where we've always been," reported an acting U. N. spokesman, Lt. Col. Howard S. Levie. "We're still talking."

There was another indication affairs were going poorly at Panmunjom.

The Communist Peiping radio, quoting a Korean front dispatch, complained that recent conference talks have been "held under the menace of heavy enemy (gun) fire. It said American shells "hurled through the skies at the edge of the conference zone."

The Red radio also asserted "waves" of enemy troops attacked Red positions southwest of Panmunjom. It emphasized that Chinese Communist "volunteers" were determined to defend Kaesong, former conference city just below the 38th parallel and 34 air miles northwest of Seoul.

In the past the Reds have frequently fallen back on such charges when conference talks were stalled.

Government Cuts Non-Civilian Use Of Metal; Auto Makers Suffer Loss Of Steel Plate

Washington, (AP) — The government cut still deeper last night in the available supply of metal for non-defense products, including the steel plate auto makers had planned to use in turning out 930,000 cars in the first quarter of 1952.

The auto steel move could mean an ultimate rise in price ceilings on cars and trucks.

The National Production authority (NPA) served notice that the auto-truck industry will be allotted only 60 per cent of the steel plate needed to meet scheduled production of 930,000 cars and 24,000 trucks during January, February and March.

NPA Administrator Manly Fleischman asked the industry to make up the shortage by using a more expensive but more available form of steel, called "conversion steel."

Fleischmann told a meeting of manufacturers that if they do so, he will ask price control officials to recognize the boost in costs by granting a ceiling price increase for cars and trucks.

"Conversion steel" is metal which is purchased in unfinished condition and turned over to another steel mill for fabricating into finished form.

In another important development, the NPA restricted makers of "less essential" consumer goods to 10 per cent of the amount of copper and 20 per cent of the amount of aluminum they used before Korea. This restriction is to become effective January 1 and hits makers of a variety of things ranging from table lamps to toys.

The other admittedly may put some companies out of business.

NPA announced a program designed to "minimize the casualties."

In other home front developments:

One—Price control officials said ceilings may have to be placed on white potatoes if prices continue to rise. The national average price has gone up from $1.23 a bushel on Sept. 15 to $1.39 on Oct. 15.

Two—The Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) decreed a reduction of 6 per cent in ceiling prices for most used cars, effective Dec. 20.

Also, beginning with the new year, ceiling prices will be lowered two per cent every three months to allow for depreciation. OPS officials said they expected few actual price cuts since market prices in general have been below the old ceilings.

Three — Tin plate producers, faced with a possible cut of 25 to 35 per cent in their supply of tin, told the NPA this reduction could disrupt the industry and cause trouble in providing tin cans for the spring and summer food packs.

Press Demands

Atlantic City, N. J., (AP) — The wage-policy committee of the CIO's Steelworkers union decided yesterday to press the steel industry for a substantial pay raise, a guaranteed annual wage and 20 other concessions.

Five Named Winners Of Nobel Prizes

Stockholm, Sweden, (AP) — Four scientists who are architects of the atomic age and an author whose best seller novel is laid in the time of Christ won 1951 Nobel prizes yesterday.

The chemistry prize was shared by two Americans—Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg and Dr. Edward M. McMillan, both of the University of California at Berkeley. They are co-discoverers of plutonium, a substance that made it easier and cheaper to produce atomic bombs. McMillan's work made it possible to create cosmic rays in the laboratory.

A Briton and an Irishman shared the prize for physics. They are Sir John Cockcroft, director of Britain's "atomic city" at Harwell, and Prof. E. T. S. Walton of Dublin's Trinity College. They won the prize for their work as a team in 1932, when their experiments in splitting atomic nuclei with artificially propelled bullets helped pave the way for the present status of atomic affairs.

Par Lagerkvist, a Swedish author whose novel "Barabbas" is high on best seller lists in the United States, won the literary prize. He is a poet, essayist and philosopher as well as novelist.

His novel tells what happens to Barabbas, the ruffian, after Jesus took his place on the cross.

Three Burned, One Fatally, At PP&L Plant

Lansford, (AP) — Three men were burned, one fatally, yesterday in a fire at the Bauto plant of the Pennsylvania Power and Light Co. described by plant officials as the most serious there in 10 years.

The victim was Leonard Stark, 30, of Hazleton. He died in Coal-dale hospital. At the same hospital is Roy Dehart Jr., 35, of Mauch Chunk, in serious condition. Michael Kurash, 30, of Nesquehoning was less seriously burned.

Plant officials said the cause of the fire was undetermined, but believed the flames were set off by a piece of slag falling into a high pressure boiler near where the men were at work.

Yugoslavia Pleads Case

Paris, (AP) — Yugoslavia asked the United Nations yesterday to order off Soviet satellite troops stationed along her borders and restore calm to the Balkans.

Edvard Kardelj, Yugoslav foreign minister, told the U. N. Assembly that Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria are keeping 25 divisions—almost half their total of 53 divisions—in frontier positions menacing his independent Communist nation.

Kardelj also came out for a meeting of the chiefs of state of the great powers during the assembly, saying this would be a positive step for peace.

It became known as the general debate continued that Secretary General Trygve Lie planned to wind up the talk-fest with an appeal for representatives of France, Britain, the United States and Russia to meet during the assembly and seek an agreement. Lie may speak today, or perhaps Saturday.

Production Of New Warplanes Behind Schedule

Washington, (AP) — Delivery of new warplanes is substantially behind schedule because the Air Force has found it takes up to 10 months longer than expected to produce them.

Defense department authorities disclosed this yesterday in explaining to reporters why multi-billion dollar appropriations made almost two years ago haven't yet added large numbers of new bombers and fighters to the air fleet.

It also was learned that the requirements of the military security agency for aircraft to deliver to other nations under the arms aid program are being filled before the requirements of the United States Air Force are met. Whether there will be any change in this method depends on what arrangements are made at the forthcoming North Atlantic Treaty organization meeting in Rome and on top level decisions at the White House.

Scarce Tickets Can Be Had In Trade For Farm

Paris, Ky., (AP) — The following classified ad appeared in the Paris Daily Enterprise yesterday:

"For sale—Two Kentucky-Tennessee football tickets. I will trade for a small farm in Bourbon county. For information see or call Walter Hodge, telephone 84, Paris."

Hodge played basketball with the University of Kentucky team in 1936. The Kentucky-Tennessee tilt Nov. 24 has been a sellout for months.

According to present market prices, land in Bourbon county is bringing from $200 to $750 an acre.

Death Prevents Boy From Ever Rejoining Army

Eaton Rapids, Mich., (AP) — Fifteen-year-old Thomas Spurlock made headlines last year when he ran away from home and joined the Army in hopes of getting to Korea.

Army officers caught up with him a month later at Fort Bragg, N. C., where they found he had used the name and credentials of an uncle to gain enlistment.

They sent Thomas home with a suggestion that he could come back and join the Army on his 18th birthday.

Thomas was sad, but contented himself with thoughts that he'd be back in the Army some day.

Fate ruled otherwise, however. Thomas was killed in an auto mishap near his Eaton Rapids home Wednesday.

Eating Soap Makes Chickens Grow Faster, Scientist Finds

Washington, (AP) — Chickens grow faster if fed certain soaps or other "surface active agents," a group of scientists announced yesterday.

This discovery may unlock important new secrets about human nutrition, these scientists say. It also could lead to new feeding methods that might produce more and cheaper meat.

C. M. Ely of the National Detergents Products Corp., Cincinnati, O., wrote yesterday in the magazine "Science" some "surfactants" were found to have a growth-stimulating ability equal to or greater than that of antibiotic residues, such as those

HST Guarantees Democrats To Have Fair Deal Platform

President Truman said yesterday his "fair deal" program—fighting words to many in the southern wing of the party—will be a part of the 1952 Democratic party platform no matter who runs.

This bit of Democratic political news came from Key West, Fla., while in Washington a poll of House Republicans showed Sen. Robert A. Taft leading Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in a test of strength for the Republican presidential nomination.

The poll, by Rep. Cole (R-NY) brought replies from 161 of the 196 House Republicans. Cole said 71 named Taft as their first choice, 54 selected Eisenhower, 13 were for Senator Dirksen of Illinois, 12 for Gen. Douglas MacArthur, five for Gov. Earl Warren of California and a handful went to scattered choices.

Taft and Warren are the only announced candidates, and Warren's announcement came after the poll was completed.

In another development, Senator Lodge (R-Mass.) accepted an invitation to become national director of the Eisenhower-for-president movement. This was announced at Abilene, Kans. (Eisenhower's home town), by Henry B. Jameson, newspaperman who is chairman of the Kansas Volunteer Eisenhower forces.

Convicted Slayer Dies In Chair

Columbus, O., (AP) — Max Amerman walked to his death last night in Ohio penitentiary's electric chair with a prayer on his lips.

The 27-year-old Medina county farmer, convicted of plotting the murder of Harold Mast, whose wife he coveted, prayed inaudibly as a minister repeated the 23rd Psalm, the Lord's Prayer and two prayers.

But when surfactants such as soap and detergents are added surface tension is greatly reduced. Dirt particles are rapidly dispersed.

Antibiotics primarily are bacteria killers used to fight disease. But if mixed with poultry and some livestock feeds they cause faster growth under some conditions.

Just why, remains a mystery.

Study Room Opened For Instructors

Bangor — The teachers' study room was open for inspection for the first time on Parents night, November 14.

The room was acquired when the principal's office was partitioned and the guidance office was moved into one of these offices.

Room 111 was a dismal place on September 4, the opening day of school, but today through the efforts of the committee composed of Mrs. Hazel Branch and Mrs. Marie. Godshalk, co-chairladies, and Mrs. Margaret Stella, Miss Evelyn Reimel, Russell Baggott, Madison Owen and custodian Jacob Yetter, as well as the generosity of merchants and friends, it has turned into a clean, light, comfortable working room for the BHS faculty to use during their free periods.

The professional library composed of educational magazines and books, as well as the mail facilities are located in this room.

Materials and furniture were received from the following Bangor contributors: Blue Ridge Textiles, L. J. Brush, M. Schwartz Furniture Co., Miller Brothers Paint store, Jennie's Fabric shop, Seal's Upholsterer, Mrs. Annie Hughes, Miss Florence Giaguinto, Robert Doney, and the Outdoor club of the High school.

The committee, not to be stopped by physical boundaries, also received furnishings from Henry Male and William Savercool of Pen Argyl and Mrs. J. Russell Philman of East Stroudsburg.

The 28th Sails

Once again Pennsylvania can be proud of its National Guard. For the third time within the memory of many of us, the 28th Division is en route to Europe to help preserve world freedom.

Though the mission today is the same as it was in 1918 and again in 1943, we can be thankful at least that this time the 28th is being asked to help put down a war before it starts.

In World War I, the 28th had to help lick the Kaiser's legions. In War II, it had to help defeat Hitler's hordes. Today, its job is to help prevent War III by keeping Stalin's forces in check.

Parting, of course, is always such sad sorrow. Especially with the holiday season coming up. It is understandable, therefore, that many of the men and their families should be bitter about having to go overseas again.

They should realize, however, that this is a situation not of our own making. As long as international bandits are on the prowl, we and the other law-abiding nations of the world must maintain a vigilant police force to discourage those bent on evil.

Through the North Atlantic Pact, we are building such a police force in Europe right now under Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower. The 28th is one of four American divisions which are to be committed to this task of preserving the peace.

It might be that the current war never would have developed if we had not dissipated our strength so recklessly after V-J Day. But that is water over the dam.

What we must do now is to it that we never again drop our guard. We must never again demobilize to a point where we invite attack. We must never again accept, without reservation, the promises of a proven international liar.

To help achieve this end, Congress should establish a system of Universal Military Training as soon as it returns to Washington in January. That's the fairest way to spread the responsibilities of citizenship in a democracy.

We cannot forever depend on the same men to do the same job. It is not only unfair but unwise.

If we had set up a program of universal military service after World War II, we might not be in the frying pan now. And we definitely would not have had to call again on so many of the National Guardsmen and Reserves to keep us from flipping over into the fire of another world war.

In this moment of sober thought, let us resolve to do right by the men who already have rendered so much service for so long.

Let us resolve to pass on the vital job, as quickly as possible, to others who have offered little or no service to their nation.

This is their country, too.

No Time to Let Up

Members of Congress have been urging the Citizens' Committee for the Hoover Report to keep up the good work. "Congress needs constant prodding to put the reorganization plan over," says Rep. Katharine St. George, New York Republican.

And if Congress needs prodding, the executive (or spending) departments need it even more.

The reorganization proposed by the Hoover Report, which Congress practically ignored in the 1951 session, goes a long way toward a better and cheaper way of doing government business. It strikes at the core of carelessness and duplication in Government effort.

But an eternal dollar vigilance all around is the only safe hope of relieving the taxpayer of the outlandish burden now imposed upon him. Congress, citizens and Government executives alike must drum on this theme everlastingly.

Government spending is sky-high. Never were the principles of the Hoover Report in such urgent need of realization.

An English bore was boasting about his family's sparkling military record. "I'm off to Korea next week to carry on the tradition," he smirked. "My father fought at Ypres, and my grandfather fought in the Boer War. My great grandfather, furthermore, fought in the Zulu war . . .

Hollywood—Staying glamorous on a tour behind the Korean battle lines isn't easy, but Audrey Totter has just managed. The GI's she visited in eight hospitals approved enthusiastically.

A letter she received the other day from Gen. James A. Van Fleet, 8th Army commander, says she talked with 3,285 patients. It adds:

"Your personal interest in chatting informally with these patients has done much to speed their recovery."

Audrey says she tried to look like "the girl next door—but a real glamorous girl next door." By visiting the wards. Traveling by plane or jeep, she wore soldier's clothes and boots. In nurses' quarters, where she slept, she'd change to a sweater and skirt or a lace or knit dress. These wouldn't wrinkle when rolled and jammed into her one traveling bag.

"Gay, bright colors; lots of sparkling jewelry; high heels, sheer stockings, hair long and shiny"—these, Audrey says, were other glamor details she made sure of.

She always had more dates with walking wounded for mess-hall than she could accept. Was she married? No. Might they take her out dancing when they got back to the States? Audrey told me: "I've enough dates to last for the next ten years."

GI's talk mostly about home, she found. Having visited nearly all states, she was acquainted with most of their home territory. "They all think their state is the greatest; not just the men from Texas," Miss Totter reported. In Seoul, Confederate flags were displayed. A Southerner told her: "It's time the Yankees fought for something Southern."

These Days -- By George E. Sokolsky

Sokolsky

The Hermitage. In a way, I was astonished by the grandeur and beauty of "The Hermitage." The Democrats had so ardently painted Andrew Jackson as a common man, by which, in our English language, we can only mean a vulgar, boorish, cheap person. But no common man could have built and furnished, much less lived in such a house as "The Hermitage," nor would a vulgarian have loved the gardens and the magnificent trees of this place.

Obviously, Andrew Jackson was an uncommon man or he could not have had such a career as his, nor could an ordinary peasant have penned the glorious lines, worthy perhaps of a Robert Browning, which the hero of New Orleans placed upon the grave of his wife Rachel:

"Here lie the remains of Mrs. Rachel Jackson, wife of President Jackson, who died the 22nd of December, 1828, Aged, 61 years. Her face was fair, her person pleasing, her temper amiable, her heart kind; she delighted in relieving the wants of her fellow creatures, and cultivated that divine pleasure by the most liberal and unpretending methods; to the poor she was a benefactor; to the rich an example; to the wretched a comfort; to the prosperous an ornament; her piety went hand in hand with her benevolence, and she thanked her Creator for being permitted to do good. A being so gentle and so virtuous slander might wound, but could not dishonor. Even death, when he bore her from the arms of her husband, could but transport her to the bosom of her God."

He had arranged for only these words on his own grave-stone:

"General Andrew Jackson
Born March 15, 1767
Died June 8, 1845"

There is, in a sense, a proud even an arrogant simplicity in the one word, "General." He omits all honors including the presidency and uses only the highest rank of his possession.

Over the years I have read considerably on Andrew Jackson, but it was not until last week, when visiting Nashville, Tennessee, that I pursued my favorite habit of making pilgrimages to historic sites. In such buildings, if one is sensitive to floors and ceilings and furniture, somehow the atmosphere of other days recreates itself. I could almost hear Andrew Jackson speaking in adoring whispers to his Rachel and confiding his secret yearnings to his servant, Uncle Alfred, whose remains are buried in the garden close to the general.

No common man was Andrew Jackson, lawyer, real estate speculator, horse fancier and racer. Show me the kind of home a man builds for himself and I know the man. "The Hermitage" clearly bespeaks the joy of living. It has a happy, contented tone and while its furnishings are not of the taste or quality of the Salem houses built by the millionaires who were making their fortunes in the China trade, it does tell the story of a man who enjoyed a broad and gay life, who ate and drank joyously and loved flowers and horses and music. Jackson played the banjo, flute and violin, and Rachel the piano, and I should imagine they sang together.

There is nothing primitive, nothing of the backwoodsman here. Long before Jackson went to New Orleans as a general or to Washington as president, he had established himself as a successful lawyer, a man of means and a considerable landowner.

It is perhaps not astonishing, therefore, that as president, he paid off the national debt. Men who love homes and build them as though they were temples generally fear debt.

I could not help wondering, as I passed from room to room in "The Hermitage," what Andrew Jackson would have thought of a $258,000,000,000 debt for his country. I wonder what he would have thought of a tax system that makes it difficult for a man to save out of his earnings to buy his own land and build his own home for the woman he loves.

Fancy biographers research these strong figures into vulgarities; they debunk personality into a democratic smallness; their yardstick is the cheapness of their own minds. But they never really know the man, for they cannot understand love of the soil.

Having spent a morning in "The Hermitage," I am sure Andrew Jackson is not the figure that the Democratic National committee wants me to think he is; nor is Jefferson, the builder of "Monticello." These were heroic creatures of ability, means and character who lived by building.

Washington Report

By Fulton Lewis Jr.

Washington—When the editors of Time magazine came to the defense of Gustavo Duran in an effort to make a liar out of Senator Joseph R. McCarthy, they did exactly what a lot of the Wisconsin Republican's critics do—they jumped into a buzz-saw with their eyes closed.

Duran, the high-salaried chief of the cultural activities section of the United Nations, has been described as an agent of the Soviet secret police. He naturally worked for the State department at one time and also fought on the side of the Communists in the Spanish civil war.

In an effort to smear McCarthy, Time magazine said, "Duran, never a Red, was definitely and clearly anti-Communist—he worked for the United States government in Cuba during World War II tracking down Axis and Communist agents."

What the editors of Time did not know when they tried to peddle this is that McCarthy had in his files a private memorandum from Time's Washington office that labeled Duran exactly what McCarthy called him. And then, just to impute themselves solidly on the hook, Time's editors added:

"Every word in Time's story, incidentally, was thoroughly checked for accuracy of fact and interpretation. It is a policy the Senator would do well to follow."

Time's Washington office help got into secret government files for the information they sent to the New York editors in April of 1947. Proud of their work, Time's Washington staff said their information "is based largely on material available in the files of U. S. Investigatory agencies. The facts—i.e., dates, names, places—are correct insofar as Latin American counter-intelligence agents have been able to confirm them. Some of the material is source-rated, A-1, some of it as low as C-3."

The Time memorandum says that "Duran is considered flatly to be an MVD secret agent." It adds:

"There is little doubt that Gustavo was an able soldier. He grew close to the Red brigade commanders Lister and Modesto, who are supposed to have fought World War II as general officers of the Red Army. He was a member of the general staff which executed the brilliant withdrawals from Maqueda and Toledo. The last days of Colonel Gustavo Duran, according to the file, were spent in the Red brigade headquarters at Taroncon. From here, following his escape, some sources say he went to Paris, then to Moscow."

When Senator McCarthy first hung it on Duran the State Department said he must be talking about another man. Duran himself liked to peddle this story, too, until the senator had a picture of Duran in a Red army uniform enlarged to show his features.

Time's memorandum, which was ignored in Time's story, says:

"The other Gustavo Duran, is, according to Duran, two other guys. He has clung tenaciously to his story of mistaken identity. Nevertheless, when the story of the 'other Gustavo Duran' began to circulate in Washington, he got quietly out of the State department. The State Department claims it was a year ago (1946) and somehow the record seems to have been falsified. Actually, he left the payroll early this year." That was in 1947.

State department spokesmen also lied about Duran's employment record when they testified during the Tydings whitewash investigation of McCarthy's charges. They said Duran resigned from the department in 1946, which is untrue.

The State Department Security committee cleared Duran for government employment. This was after Duran had spent two force. Every ruthless instrument is utilized—from mob revolt to private assassination. What is attained by violence is retained by terror; Communism's perverted form of justice is represented by the enforcement of criminal activities. The police force commits the crimes. Deceit is illegal. Party discipline is another name for slavery. . . . The survival of Communism demands the eradication of opposition everywhere. Hence the Kremlin's mobsters have penetrated every nation.

Trotsky's assassination had all the murder mystery trimmings: Romance, intrigue, sudden death . . . The plot against Stalin's archfoe (conceived by Russia's secret police) was drawn up with attention to detail displayed by a General planning a battle campaign. It took over three years to carry the plan into effect . . . Trotsky's Mexican hacienda was a fortress: Bulletproof windows, double steel doors, bombproof ceilings and floors and a small army of body guards. Yet the assassin entered the fortress without firing a shot.

Russian agents studied Trotsky's trusted aides and picked one, Sylvia Agoloff, as the dupe. Sylvia was a lonely gal whose friendship was won by a skinned Red agent—who suggested a trip to Paris. There Miss Agoloff was introduced to a handsome, charming man and fell in love. They returned to Mexico together. When he came to visit her, Sylvia opened the door of the fortress. He killed Trotsky with a miner's pick.

Although Trotsky's murder happened more than a decade ago, the killer (who calls himself Frank Jackson) remains a Man of Mystery. So thorough was the preparation for the crime the police have never discovered his right name or his birthplace . . . "Jackson" had some highly paid attorneys working for him—but he prefers to remain behind bars! . . . He lives like a rajah in jail with all the luxuries and privileges rubies can buy—including regular visits of prostitutes to his cell. (Very cozy.)

years in Argentina as an assistant to Ambassador Spruille Braden. Braden came to Duran's defense also, stating:

"Mr. Duran has now served as one of my immediate associates for more than a year. His work has been excellent and outstandingly useful to the United States. Mr. Duran is not a Communist but a liberal of the highest type. I consider him an unusually worthy, patriotic and honorable American citizen, who shows great promise as a United States government official, capable of high responsibility."

Henry R. Luce, editor-in-chief of Time, wrote to Senator McCarthy an explanation that included this statement on the inter-office message from Time's Washington bureau:

"You will note that it (the message) concluded with a significant cautionary note from Time's reporter: 'Remember that counter intelligence operations do not involve proof of assumptions. They are made on a working basis for the purpose of neutralizing foreign espionage and on occasion for disseminating false information.'"

Monday we'll take another look at the high type liberalism that impressed Time magazine editors so much they overlooked what was in their own files in writing their phony story.

probably contain the solution of another whodunit. During the early 1930s Juliet Stuart Poyntz was one of the most active and influential U. S. Communists . . . Later she enlisted in the Kremlin's secret police . . . La Poyntz was shocked by the activities of the secret agents and made the fatal blunder of threatening to quit . . . One day she strolled out of her West 57th Street apartment—and vanished.

Her disappearance remains a riddle.

The shadowy world of Communism claimed 2 other victims—as a result of the Poyntz murder . . . Ludwig Lore, a New York newspaperman and Communist, was appalled by her fate . . . He openly criticized the methods and concepts of the Communists and promised "to do something" about the Poyntz case.

Ben Gitlow's book, "The Whole of Their Lives" (Scribners), notes "The murder of Poyntz, when she was groping her way out of the OGPU domination of her mind and soul, had a tremendous effect upon the harried, impressionable mind of Lore. He died suddenly, mysteriously, without any previous premonition of illness."

Another Poyntz friend attempted to uncover her killers . . . He was a noted anarchist who conducted a private investigation . . . He continued the probe despite threats from Communist agents . . . Apparently he learned too much . . . On Jan. 11th, 1943, the front pages reported the anarchist Carlo Tresca was shot and killed . . . Tresca's murderers added another unsolved Red murder mystery.

General Walter C. Krivitsky was the target of Communist Dillingers in 1941. He had been Chief of Russian Military Intelligence in Western Europe until he broke with the Soviet and escaped to the United States . . .

Looking at Life

By Erich Brandeis

Brandeis

the South. I found it in my room at the St. Charles in New Orleans, La.

It is headed "Room Rates Are Outrageous."

"We'll agree," says the article in part, "and give no arguments. Far too few years ago the room we are now selling for $5.00 sold for $2.50, if and when we had a customer. Some of them even sold for $2.00."

"Are you getting a better room for your money? No, you're not."

The article gives some of the reasons for the enormous increase in room rates—and the same reasoning is good for ALL the things you buy and ALL the services you get.

"For years we bought our corridor carpets for $3.00 a yard," the article goes on. "Just the other day a mill man came in to tell us that the same carpet today is $11.65 a yard. Is it a better carpet? No, today it is not all-wool as in the good old days. It is 10% rayon. Today it will cost us $4.50 to carpet one corridor. In the past $1,150 did the job. Neither you nor I benefit from the additional $3.50 wasted."

"Does your coffee taste any better to you? Probably not so good? Coffee that was 24 cents a pound is now 77 cents a pound—a 300% increase! (My wife pays 93 cents a pound. E. B.)

"When a waitress nonchalantly drops one of those thick hotel cups, we shudder—there goes 38 cents. In the good old days it was a nickel—almost an 800% increase!"

"Did your sheet seem cooler and softer to you last night? You noticed no difference? You should! That precious sheet today costs $30.00 a dozen for the poorest quality. At the beginning of World War II, we could buy a better one for $12.50 a dozen."

"Are the help kinder and more courteous to you when you check in? Brother, they should bow from the waist, quickly brush off your coat and dust your shoes! Today their payroll alone is more than the total gross room sales of fifteen years ago."

I shan't bore you with any more statistics, but the author's general observations may be well worth your while.

I shall give them to you in his own words. They are at least worth some cogitation.

"Some day we all will realize," he says, "that the guy who said 'the government owes you a living' was the biggest phoney this side of hell. In the first place you and I are the government. All he was telling us was that we owe ourselves a living."

"And then we will go a little further and realize that the government never made an honest dime in its life. The government is an eternal pauper."

"Every dollar it spends it takes from us and leaves us less to spend on ourselves and our children. The economists call it a reduction in the living standard. 'Just as long as you and I form a cheering section for the swivel chair artists in Washington who are devoting their lives to the scattering of our money, and all they can borrow, like confetti, you can bet your shirt that the $2.50 hotel room of yesterday will be $5.00 today—and $10.00 tomorrow.'"

The author of this article is no economist. Nor is he a Communist. He is a reputable hotel man.

But apparently every business man in this country—who looks at his ledgers today and compares them with those of yesterday, is a better economist than those "swivel chair artists" in Washington.

There is a remedy, of course—the next election.

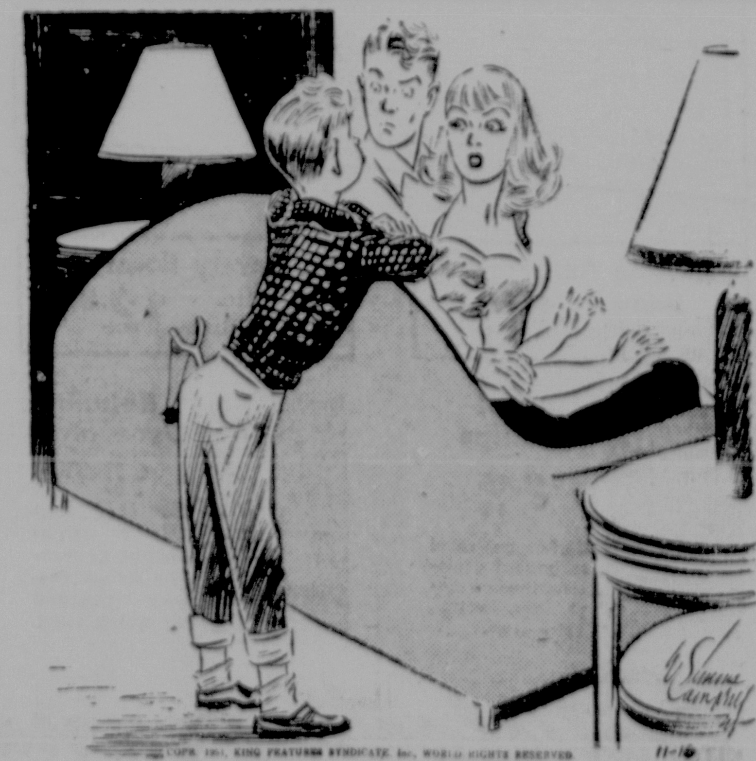

But several elections have come and gone since the $2.50 hotel room and the 24-cent pound of coffee.

So the only conclusion to which one can possibly come is that the American public likes to be bilked.

And it is certainly being bilked to a fare-ye-well!

CUTIES

—By E. Simms Campbell

"Mind if I merely observe? I have a date, myself, this evening."

Doe Licenses For County Exhausted

With doe season still a month off, eight Pennsylvania counties—including Monroe—have exhausted their quotas of the special licenses required for shooting antlerless deer.

Only 21 counties still have the 40 per cent of their quotas handed out at Harrisburg still unfilled. The local quotas of 60 per cent for each county of the special $1.10 license needed in addition to the regular $3.15 hunting license have been used up in 46 counties.

The statewide quotas is 225,000. In Monroe county, hunters have bought out the stock of 2,766 licenses at the county treasurer's office, and exhausted the additional 1,844 sold for this county in Harrisburg.

However, this figure does not put a limit on the number of hunters who will be blazing away at deer, with or without antlers during the Dec. 14-15 doe season.

The law says landowners, lessees or other farm occupants who are U. S. citizens may hunt their own property during open season without either a doe license or regular hunting license.

They may hunt adjoining properties too, but the law requires written permission of the landowner first.

Counties with quotas completely filled include Berks, Bucks, Carbon, Chester, Forest, Monroe, Perry and Schuylkill.

Counties with local quotas still unfilled include Allegheny, Bradford, Cameron, Centre, Clinton, Cumberland, Dauphin, Delaware, Elk, Huntingdon, Indiana, Jefferson, Lycoming, McKean, Montgomery, Pike, Potter, Sullivan, Tioga, Wayne and York.

Heavy Draft Calls Likely

Draft boards must expect heavy calls for men for some time to come, declared Col. Henry M. Gross, State director of Selective Service at a meeting of area draft board personnel at Allentown last night.

He pointed out that the first heavy draft came 18 months ago, and that these men must be replaced. He noted that the Pennsylvania National Guard, however, counts toward the quota.

The meeting was held to enable the State director and his staff to meet local boards and to give them a chance to ask questions on amendments to the act of 1948.

Represented at the meeting were members of the Stroudsburg, Milford, Mauch Chunk, three Allentown, two Bethlehem and two Easton draft boards.

Tax Assessor's Conviction Upheld By State Court

Pittsburgh (AP)—A former tax assessor convicted of attempted extortion lost his fight in the State Superior court yesterday for a new trial.

The court ruled Frank J. Hradecky, 37, former chief tax assessor of Fayette county, was properly convicted in the Fayette county court.

An opinion written by Judge Chester H. Rhodes said no errors were committed by the lower court and held the judge's charge was not prejudicial.

Hradecky and a friend, James Paul, were charged with attempted extortion, attempted bribery and conspiracy to commit extortion and bribery. In addition, Hradecky was charged with misconduct in office. He was fined $500 and sentenced to one and one-half years in jail. Paul pleaded guilty, turned state's evidence and got a suspended sentence.

Social Planning Committee Outlines Plans For Annual Community Chest Meeting

The social planning committee of the Monroe County Community Chest and Council made plans for the annual meeting in January when officers of the Community Chest and Council will be elected for the coming year. The group met Wednesday night at the Stroud Community House.

The social planning committee, of which Mrs. Eugene Martin is chairman, is a synthesis of the agencies supported by the Community Chest and representatives of the community's civic organizations. The responsibilities and purpose of a social planning group were outlined by Jesse Flory, president of the Community Chest.

Miss Ethel West, executive secretary, explained the details of organizational procedure, and reports were given by the three divisions into which the social planning work is divided. Each division works on social planning needs in its own particular field.

Mrs. T. F. Rhodes, chairman, reported for the family and child welfare division, and Roger Dunning reported for the education and informal recreation division of which Earl Groner is chairman. There was no report from the third division, that of health, which was represented at the meeting by Dr. Charlotte Jordan.

Named to the nominating committee were: Edward DePuy, chairman; Mrs. Howard Eckert, Mrs. Frank Patterson Jr., Dr. C. J. Naegle, Stiles Baldwin and Ralph Burrows.

Committee members present included Mrs. T. F. Rhodes, Mrs. C. R. Bensinger, Mrs. Walter Caulfield, Mrs. Jean Albert, Dr. Charlotte Jordan, Mrs. Carroll All, Miss Marie Cody, Miss Helen Kulp, Miss Elizabeth Martin, Miss Ethel West, Carl Secor, Allen Sterner, Robert Fisher, Roger Dunning, Jesse Flory and the chairman, Mrs. Eugene H. Martin.

A complete list of the current members of the social planning committee was announced. In addition to the three divisions, there are five representatives-at-large: Mrs. Morris Evans, Mrs. Walter Caulfield, Rev. Harold MacMurray, John Dunkelberger and Roy Westcott.

LeRoy Mikels is chairman of the health division, which also includes Mrs. Estella Fleming and Dr. Charlotte Jordan. Earl Groner is chairman of the education and informal recreation division which also includes Carl T. Secor and Allen Sterner.

Family and child welfare is represented by Mrs. T. F. Rhodes, chairman; Mrs. Carroll All and Mrs. Ida B. Kunkle.

In addition representatives appointed by the presidents of the service organizations of the community work with the agency representatives in planning for community needs.

H. N. Albrecht Injured When Car Hits Pole

Analomink — Injured seriously when his car left Route 90 and struck a power pole here yesterday, H. Nelson Albrecht, 29, Marshalls Creek, was pulled to the right, left the road, and collided with the Pennsylvania Power and Light Co. pole.

He was reported suffering from internal and spinal injuries.

Pfc. Joseph F. Murphy of the Stroudsburg barracks reported the accident was at 3:45 a. m. He said Albrecht was driving south toward Stroudsburg through fog.

As the injured man's 1951 coupe rounded a curve in this village, Albrecht saw an oncoming car, police said. He pulled to the right, left the road, and collided with the Pennsylvania Power and Light Co. pole.

The impact caused $500 damage to the auto's right front fender, grille, hood, radiator and frame. The car was towed to a Stroudsburg garage.

Management, Labor Goals Held Parallel

Management and labor have a series of parallel goals in today's industrial world, William Parker, Long Island expert in personnel relations told the members of Stroudsburg Rotary club yesterday.

Mr. Parker was introduced by H. G. Sanborn Jr., vice president and general manager of Worthington Mower Co.

The speaker emphasized that the dignity of man must be respected by management; that personnel must have a means of self-expression and that it is incumbent upon management to provide that means.

Labor, in addition to desire for self-expression wants to be able to brag it works for the best firm in the community; wants to have confidence in and confidence of supervision; wants to know how the industrial enterprise is progressing.

Management, he noted, should want personnel to have and react along these same lines.

President Gerald M. Anderson welcomed guests and congratulated several members on birthday anniversaries.

Dr. Evan C. Reese gave a "thumb-nail" sketch of Dr. Horace Butler, one of the more recent members of the Stroudsburg club.

Extensionist Gives Talk

Tannersville — Randolph Thompson, a representative of the Penn State College Agriculture Extension service, addressed students of Pocono Township High school Tuesday afternoon. The program, consisting of outstanding color movies on wildlife hunting, was arranged by Arthur E. Ifft.

Thompson narrated the film as George Learn, science instructor at the school, operated the projector. Contained in the film were shots showing starving deer, illegal hunting, impoliteness on the part of hunters and many constructive points on the "proper handling of a gun while hunting."

School Notes Enthusiasm At Open House

Tannersville — Wednesday's open house at Pocono Township Consolidated school was a big success with enthusiastic parents participating in school activities on a schedule similar to their own children's.

Following the open house pupils of the school presented a dramatization of human values which play an important part in education. Those appearing were: Richard Lindstedt, Gwyneth Johnson, Thomas Jones, Beverly Peechatka, Barbara James, John Frailey and Sarah Motz.

Solo voices were David Frailey, Mary Ann Learn, Jane Law, Emma Possinger, Beverly Hay, Jane Starnier and Alice Kresge.

Chorus speakers were divided into two groups, Dark and Light "voices." Members of the first group were Janet Rustine, David Frailey, Mary Ann Learn, Alvin Kresge, Alice Kresge, Robert Halibet, Emma Possinger, Zola Paul, Jane Law and Marie Bessecker. "Light voices" were Patricia Hoffard, Jane Bessecker, Jane Starnier, Beverly Hay, Ruthann Coffman and Shirley Bitterman.

A pantomime portraying stages in education at the school was presented. Featured in the chorus were Barbara Williams, Frances Mooney, Harriet Learn, Ann Louise

County Ag Extension Service Reelects Slate Of Officers Headed By Clarence Smith

Effort — Clarence Smith, Saylorburg RD 1, was reelected president here yesterday of the Monroe County Agricultural Extension service. Also reelected at the one-day annual meeting at the lodge hall here were Thomas P. Rogers, Stroudsburg RD 1, first vice president; Harry Bond, Stroudsburg RD 3, second vice president, and Floyd Wilmoth, Kunkletown, treasurer.

Only new electee was Mrs. George Bush, Stroudsburg, named secretary to replace Mrs. Elmer Heffer, Stroudsburg RD 1.

Most of the day was given over to reports and discussion of the extension service's activities in this area during the year.

Rev. Clarence Rahn, Temple, Pa., main speaker, called for "clear thinking today." George Rimer, Cherry Valley, reported on the corn variety tests conducted on his farm last summer by the Extension service. He grew 20 varieties of hybrid corn. Wendell Wicks, Stroudsburg RD, reported on the rat campaign conducted by his veterans' agriculture training classes on local farms. Those present saw a movie of research activities at Pennsylvania State College.

Arthur E. Ifft, Monroe county agent, said several of the reports, including his own, will be made public shortly.

Frailey and Norma Schuler. The accompanist was Nadine Bloss. Sixth graders in the school presented a "history of the American flag" directed by James Arndt.

Business News In Monroe Area

The grand opening of the newly renovated CLU Social Club of Monroe County will be held tomorrow night with an orchestra and floor show for the entertainment of members.

Board of Governors of the club are restricting the attendance to members only. No guests will be permitted on this occasion.

The entire former auditorium of the CLU building has been redone with everything from air conditioning to roll-away-stage.

A beautiful color scheme has been employed from new floor covering to decorations. A new, enlarged, oblong bar with all of the most modern attachments has been installed, along with a complete set of new furnishings for patrons.

The result is one of the most attractive and modern club rooms in this region of the state.

Donald R. Stine, of Portland will have a formal opening of Stine's Flower shop, 215 Market St., Bangor, today from noon to 9 p. m. and Saturday from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m.

Mr. Stine is a native of Portland and a graduate of the New York school of flower design. Since his graduation he has been employed at the Plaza hotel, 59th St. and 5th Ave. by Wadley & Smythe, florists.

The Federal Reserve Bank's Business Review notes that farmers' indebtedness rose in 1950, continuing a postwar trend. Commercial bank and Production Credit Association short-term farm loans at the end of 1950 were more than double the levels of early 1946.

Much of this increase, the Federal Reserve Bank noted has been used to finance the biggest farm-equipment buying wave in history. Longer-term mortgage debt has also been increasing, but in relation to farm values and income, is still near the all-time low.

Short-term farm debt in the postwar period has been increasing steadily. From the end of 1945 to the end of 1950, farm loans for current production and living purposes at principal lending agencies about doubled. The 19 per cent rise in 1950 was one of the largest since the war, and in part, reflects the inflation and buying boom set off by the outbreak in Korea.

The bank notes that although short-term debt owed by farmers is nearing record levels, generally it does not appear excessive in relation to current income. In 1950 there was $1.00 of production loans for every $4.00 of current farm net income. In pre-war years the ratio was $1.00 to every $3.00 of net farm income.

Los Angeles Has Edge In TV War Because Stars Live There

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the first of two articles presenting the rival claims of Hollywood and New York, both of which seek to become the permanent capital of television.

By Armand Archard

(Central Press Correspondent)
Hollywood — The battle between New York and Hollywood for television supremacy has reached the semi-finals. Gotham took the preliminary bout by a knockout. The situation is now phanging and we have a good idea as to the finale.

Last season, almost every show of import originated in the east. Performers returning to Glamourville complained bitterly about the inadequacies of New York's TV facilities.

Most of these same people, Bob Hope, Jack Benny, Burns and Allen, Alan Young, Dinah Shore, Donald O'Connor, now do their shows in Hollywood. Red Skelton, Abbott and Costello and Frank Sinatra (in December) also televisual from the coast.

And they all still complain! Hope and Skelton were near collapse after their first show and O'Connor wasn't far from the same state. The only consolation for them now lies in the fact ambulances can pick them up at the studios and deliver them to their homes a few minutes away.

In addition to the above-mentioned shows, the following now call Hollywood their TV home: Life With Linkletter, Mystery Theater, Beulah, The Lone Ranger, Stu Erwin Show, Croucho Marx, Fireside Theater, Amos 'n' Andy, I Love Lucy (Lucille Ball), Gene Autry (The Range Rider), all on film.

More Hollywood films are these which go across the country via Vitaphone Recording (kinescope): The Jerry Colonna Show, The Rugles, Space Patrol, The Bill Gwynn Show, Personal Appearance Theater, The Lorraine Cugat Show, and Soapbox Theater.

The west's wrestling top shows from Gotham's grip does not reflect Hollywood's superiority in the field. The credit must go to the performers.

They live here and want to avoid the constant cross-country caravans. Most are also more accustomed to the more tranquil tempo of Southern California living.

In addition, they are, for the most part, film personalities who have friends, writers, assistants, make-up personnel, etc., here in filmland. They all help make the TV battle appear less bloody.

These comforts of home leave much to be desired in perfection of production—even in Hollywood. Here, as in New York, they are desperately trying to catch the coattails of the demon, television. The public has gobbled up the new medium with such tremendous voracity that no one has enough burners available to cook up satisfactory fare on a regular basis.

The major networks set out upon Los Angeles like homesteaders when they tried to grab up suitable space for TV production. ABC came out best with the purchase of an old movie studio. The others are trying to buy and build TV centers. Completion of these is doubtful and a long way off.

The best solution came when many movie houses closed—thanks to television. Many are now used to house local and network shows. NBC leased the El Capitan, former legitimate theater, for 99 years to present its big comedy shows. This is hardly enough.

I watched Bob Hope and company rehearse his first show on the small stage of the Hollywood Masonic temple. The audience seats had to be removed to afford sufficient room. They were allowed but one final rehearsal in the theater from which the show originates. Far from adequate preparation for a show of this caliber.

The situation is called serious and sponsors are quoted as being worried. One advertising agency boss told Hollywood it is still a year away from being able to handle a live dramatic show. For this reason many of these programs remained in New York this season.

Daily Variety quoted another agency man as saying, "Hollywood was caught flat-footed and totally unprepared when the cable was hooked up with the relay. You had your chance to wrest at least a half dozen shows from New York but everyone gives you a bad report."

Fortunately, Hollywood is not worried about bringing home a bad report card. Poppa Glamourville is smiling at the caustic comments of his east coast cousins. He knows that, as the stars want to work near their home, so do the agency boys want to do the shows in New York. Their big offices are comfortably couched in the shadows of Twenty-One and Stork club. They would miss the daily trips on the Long Island railroad, the weekends in Connecticut and the decaying grandeur of the American stage.

Hollywood does not want to do live television shows. Every major performer has told me this. They all prefer the medium of films. Agency men and union contract agreements are the only things keeping live TV alive.

In spite of these drawbacks, over 100 films are being made each week in Hollywood for TV alone. That number will double and quadruple in months to come. Most of these films are already on the tair and the rest are in the process of being sold.

Not only are the performers unhappy with live TV production, the important people, THE PUBLIC, is accustomed to perfection in entertainment and only films can

Garden Club Luncheon Has Holiday Program Theme

Winter's ingathering marked the annual luncheon of the Monroe County Garden club held yesterday afternoon at the Indian Queen hotel, with Mrs. Robert Irwin demonstrating holiday arrangements for door, mantel and Christmas corner, with new officers elected for the coming year's club activities, and even the decorations featuring squirrels preparing for the coming winter.

Cradle-Roll Party Held At Shawnee

To Mrs. William Hawn, retiring president, the club presented a gift of appreciation for her services to the club.

Mrs. Robert A. Miller was elected as president; Mrs. J. Harold Lanterman, vice president; Mrs. Roy Houser, second vice president; Mrs. David Shiffer, recording secretary; Mrs. Edgar Van Why, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Claude Cramer, financial secretary; and Mrs. Walter Angle, treasurer.

Mrs. A. Starr Phelps presented the report of the nominating committee which also included Mrs. I. B. Kiffin, and Mrs. R. E. Hamblin.

The luncheon opened with an invocation by Mrs. Arthur Helmes. The speakers table had as its centerpiece two wooden squirrels flanking a pile of bright harvest fruits. Individual rustic signposts, bearing the names of the guests and decorated with squirrels, marked each place, and there were corsages of purple asters for each person at the speakers table. They included Mrs. William Hannas, chairman of arrangements; Mrs. Robert Miller, chairman of decorations; Mrs. Bernard Peters and Mrs. David Shiffer, who had made the corsage; and Mrs. Frank Kerr, who was in charge of reservations.

Others at the speakers table included Mrs. C. D. Cramer and Mrs. Roy Houser, vice presidents; Mrs. Edgar Van Why, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Willis Goddard, financial secretary; and the past presidents: Mrs. Edward Knob, Mrs. Elmer Kiefer Jr., Mrs. E. R. Travis, Mrs. R. E. Hamblin, and Mrs. Arthur Helmes, Mrs. Hawn, and the guest speaker, Mrs. R. B. Irwin, life member of the club.

A moment of silence was observed in memory of Mrs. Lynne Lewis, a past president of the Garden club.

Mrs. Irwin in her talk on arrangements for the coming holidays began with the front door where showing sprays and wreaths with varied accessories, and talking of window box greens which should be arranged now, while the ground is still soft. For demonstrating interior decorations, Mrs. Irwin used a niche covered with purple velvet in which she created pictures, using greens, candles and accessories of varying moods and stressing various holiday themes.

The next meeting of the club will be the Christmas program at the YMCA.

Thrift Shop Open Today

The Thrift Shop sale will open at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the Smithfield Consolidated school under the auspices of the Parent-Teachers association.

Mrs. Frank L. Patterson, Jr., chairman of the Thrift shop committee, announced that in addition to the committee previously announced, she will be assisted by Mrs. Daniel Marvin, Mrs. Reginald Smith, and Mrs. Leslie Van Vleet.

BPW Club To Have Elderly Lady Guests

The Business and Professional Women's club again plans to entertain elderly women of the county at their annual Christmas party on December 20, it was announced last night at the November meeting at the Penn-Stroud hotel.

Members who have no particular guest of their own to invite, may call Stella Shade, at 1924, or Josephine Hoffman, 2478, for suggestions.

The finance committee, Joy Kopenhaver, chairman, announced that they are selling handmade stuffed animals as Christmas gifts. The animals have been placed on display at Ann's dress shop, Eleanor Booterie, Sally Schroeder's and Wyckoff drapery department.

Miss Eloise Bryan, psychologist for the Stroudsburg schools, and at the Bethlehem Psychiatric clinic was the guest speaker. Tracing the development of the use of psychology in the schools, she said that it began as a means of sorting children intelligently in order to grade them intelligently, not only with regard to school subjects but also to outside strain.

She illustrated with case histories how formerly mal-adjusted people were shown how to live happy, wholesome and healthful lives. Miss Bryan was presented by Miss Ellen Regan, chairman of the legislative committee, and Mrs. Gladys Fleming, chairman of health.

Special entertainment featured songs by Howard Atwell, who was presented by the entertainment committee.

The group decided to cancel the annual Christmas party for the children of the community, and to devote the funds thus saved to providing more baskets for the sick and shut-ins.

The resignation of Mrs. Elwood German as secretary was considered with regret. The Germans are moving into Stroud township.

Announcement was made of the successful supper at the firehouse of which Mrs. Jay Miller and Mrs. Lawton Huffman were chairmen.

Working committee chairmen for the year included: Mrs. Mahlon Hallett, kitchen; Mrs. Earl Primrose, sewing; Mrs. Carlyle Huffman, publicity; Mrs. Frank Dreishach, property; Mrs. Lawton Huffman, telephone tree.

An emergency committee to serve the firemen during a major fire includes Mrs. Richard MacDonough, Mrs. Frank Dreishach, Mrs. Carlyle Huffman, Mrs. Charles White, Mrs. Ernest McNeely and Mrs. Harvey Huffman.

Norman Huffman showed colored slides of many county scenes as well as others taken in his travels and refreshments were served by Mrs. Elwood Doll, Mrs. Mahlon Hallett, Mrs. Franklin Hallett, and Mrs. Pardee Place.

The auxiliary, which sponsors two Girl Scout troops, also had Girl Scout cookies for sale.

District Nurses Meet Saturday In Allentown
The annual meeting of District 2, Pennsylvania State Nurses' association will be held at the Allentown General hospital nurses' home, at 17th and Chew Sts., Allentown on Saturday, November 17.

There will be election of officers for both districts and sections and sectional meetings as well as a general meeting.

The program will begin at 9:30 when the Public Health, supervisory and private duty nurses will meet. The school and industrial nurses' meeting is scheduled for 9:45, and the staff nurses and League of Nursing Education at 10:30. The board meeting will be held at 11:30 a. m. and the general meeting will open at 1:45 p. m.

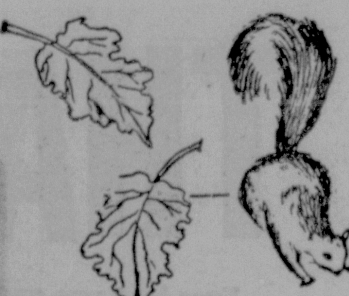

It was announced that during the Public Health sectional meeting, Dr. Henry Kozloff, of the Lehigh County Cancer society will speak on "The Psychological Aspects of the Care in Terminal Cancer".

Daughter To Cramers
Announcement has been made of the birth of a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cramer of East Stroudsburg, RD 3. The baby was born at 6:35 a. m. Sunday at the General Hospital and has been named Paula Elaine.

Mrs. H. Howard Black

Church Aux. Presenting Mrs. Black

Mrs. H. Howard Black, who has just returned from a Fellowship mission to the women of Europe, will be the speaker at the annual Thankoffering service of the Women's Auxiliary of the Stroudsburg Presbyterian church to be held Sunday night at 7:30 in the church.

As a member of the mission, Mrs. Black visited Portugal, Spain France, Germany, Holland and Yugoslavia. From this trip she will draw for her talk on "We Found This Treasure."

The auxiliaries of other Presbyterian churches in the county as well as the general public have been invited to attend the service. Mrs. Black is a member of the Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian church in the U. S. A.

Her interest in missions goes back to visits to missionaries to the home of her father Rev. Louis W. Sherman, of the Second Presbyterian church in Oil City, Pa. After attending schools in Oxford, England, and the National Cathedral school in Washington, D. C., she was graduated from Allegheny College. She served as director of religious education, and from 1942 until her marriage in 1944 was Eastern Area secretary for the Board of Foreign Missions. Her husband is Rev. H. Howard Black, pastor of the First Presbyterian church in Wappinger Falls, N. Y.

Around The Stroudsburgs

Mrs. Madeline Dolan, of E. Keansburg, N. J., is visiting her mother, Mrs. Ruth Rinker, 233 S. Crystal St., East Stroudsburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Grosbeck of Stroudsburg RD 1, are leaving today for a trip through New York state.

Mrs. Russell T. Miller, Jr., the former Sue Rayburn, and her daughter Katherine of Fayetteville, N. C. are now visiting Sgt. Miller in the Air Borne Infantry, stationed at Fort Bragg, and will remain there until after Thanksgiving. Mrs. Miller is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don H. Rayburn, of Stroudsburg, and Sgt. Miller is from Catawauqua.

Mrs. William Peacock, Ridge-way St., East Stroudsburg, will spend the weekend in New York City, where she will appear as the grandmother in the Fred Waring Thanksgiving program on television on Sunday night, a role which she has filled for several years.

SPCA Plans Holiday Bazaar For Shelter Fund

The executive board of the Monroe County SPCA held its regular monthly meeting on Tuesday in the Municipal Building, followed by the general meeting.

Mrs. Ellen D. Albenzi, president, was in the chair at both meetings.

A substantial amount was realized from the proceeds of the Bake Sale for the benefit of the Shelter Fund, it was announced. The society plans to hold a Holiday Bazaar in the coffee shop of the Indian Queen hotel on afternoons and nights of December 6, 7 and 8.

The report of Miss Wealthy Kortz, in charge of adoptions, showed a large number of dogs and cats cared for by the society in the past month.

Mrs. Williams Nominated By Lady Demos

The Women's Democratic club of Monroe County held its November meeting Wednesday Nov. 14, at the POS of A hall, So. 6th St., Stroudsburg, with the president, Mrs. Ray Williams in charge.

The nominating committee presented the slate of club officers for the coming year and the following were unanimously nominated: president, Mrs. Ray Williams; 1st vice-pres., Mrs. Oscar Gutman; 2nd vice-pres., Mrs. Floyd Butz; 3rd vice-pres., Mrs. Floyd DeHaven; 4th vice-pres., Miss Edith Young; secretary, Mrs. Margaret Kimari; treasurer, Mrs. W. A. Rogalski. These officers will be elected at the December meeting.

Mrs. Willita Rogalski, program chairman, presented the speakers, District Attorney Detlef Hansen and Floyd Butz, register and recorder. Both Mr. Hansen and Mr. Butz congratulated the women on the splendid work done in the past year.

Plans were made for the annual Christmas party to be held Dec. 12. Chairman of the party is Willita M. Rogalski. Each member is asked to bring a 50c gift.

A contribution was made to the Korean relief fund and it was suggested that if any of the members or their friends had any warm clothing they wished to donate they should contact either Mrs. Williams or Mrs. Kimari. Soap is also much needed by the Koreans.

After the meeting a social time was enjoyed and refreshments were served from a table decorated in the Thanksgiving motif by the hostesses, Myrtle Angle, Elizabeth Smith, Ruth Eckert, Mrs. Russell Strunk, Mrs. John Gregory and Mrs. Elizabeth Hull.

Pocono Club Reviews Two Years' History

Tannersville — Mrs. Estelle Granacher, retiring after two years as president of the Pocono Garden club, outlined the accomplishments of those two years at the meeting held Tuesday afternoon at the fire house.

There were 39 new members taken into the club during that time, 20 members dropped from the rolls and five members lost by death. The total membership is now 159, it was announced. Mrs. Granacher thanked the club for the cooperation they had given through the years.

There were 60 present for Tuesday's meeting, including two new members: Mrs. Louis Mansbach and Miss Kathryn Kuntz.

The annual Christmas banquet will be held at Rhodes Mountain Inn on Tuesday, December 11, it was voted after the report of the banquet committee.

Randolph Thompson, specialist on Wild Life of the extension service of Pennsylvania State College, gave an illustrated talk. Refreshments were served from a table decorated in the Thanksgiving motif.

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

I think the song, "There'll Be Some Changes Made," must have been written with the Wyckoff Store at Christmas time in mind. These days it isn't a bit unusual to hear the tapping of hammers like echoes of those in Santa's Workshop as tinsel paper is tacked over counters and pillars are concealed with holiday decorations.

These are the days when everything becomes secondary to the spirit of a season in which the year find all of their dreams springing into reality. No longer is fairyland a distant place to be pictured in one's mind. It is Wyckoff's second floor. . . . TOY-LAND!

Knowing this, the other departments are making way. Lorraine Flagler has brought out additional racks to take care of the dozens of lovely dresses in her fashion department, and Carrie Rusk is utilizing some of the vacated wall cabinets to display her sweaters and other sportswear. (How they show off, too! I had never realized there was such a wonderful assortment.) The millinery department, under Maude Walton, is preparing to move downstairs for the next few weeks, making it doubly easy for a hat to go to YOUR head! There's even some talk of transferring the floor coverings department to another location in order that Santa's throne may be somewhere in the rear of the upstairs store.

Every day there will be a new surprise for those visiting Wyckoff's, and department heads join with executives in urging you to come in and really look around. Don't let the new floor plan surprise you, for all the variety, quality and courteous service that are synonymous with the store name are still here in abundance.

If you are unable to come in due to illness, or because of home and business responsibilities, don't let Christmas shopping worry you. Telephone 400, ask for your Wyckoff Shopper and let me worry! I'll be happy to purchase the gifts on your list and send them to you. Keep your holidays easy and bright!

ONE OF THE primary problems in modern education is keeping abreast of constantly changing methods and machines in the world of business. The commercial department at Stroudsburg High School has met at least one of these problems with the installation of two new dictaphones, following a department survey which showed the dictaphone had become common equipment in most business offices. 350 Youths To Convene Buck Hill Falls — Allied Youth, Inc. opens its second consecutive yearly conference in the Inn here today with first sessions centering around a report of annual progress showing Allied Youth has reached an all-time high in membership.

Roy Berg, official in executive headquarters in Allied Youth building, Washington, D. C., will submit a report showing Allied Youth now has 214 posts in colleges, universities and high schools. Some 41 posts have been chartered since the 1950 meeting here.

Advance registration for the conference 350 youths from posts in all sectors of the county, well ahead of every previous conference. During the past year $11,000 has been raised for the Allied Youth movie "Freedom for Youth" which will be shown at the conference. That, incidentally, is the theme of this year's conference.

Mr. Berg explained yesterday that "Allied Youth is a way of life. It is non-sectarian, non-political, completely loyal to the American way of life, and most democratic. It wins with youth. It is their organization and speaks their language."

After preliminaries, the opening conference today actually gets underway with a reception featuring Dr. Daniel A. Poling, founder, and Mrs. Poling, Bernard Carpenter, youth chairman and the national sponsoring committee and wives, guests, deans and staff in the receiving line.

Mr. Berg's report on a year of progress will be followed by a keynote address given by Paul S. DeLand, managing editor of Christian Science Monitor.

Movie Vote Reversed

Ebensburg (AP)—A recheck of the vote in the community of South Fork, 10 miles northeast of Johnstown, indicated yesterday that citizens approved Sunday movies by six votes, instead of rejecting them by 15 ballots in last Tuesday's election.

Company G Men 'Sound Off' For Airing On WVPO Program

Company G had a chance to "sound off" yesterday in Camp Kilmer, N. J., for "The folks back home."

The "sounding off" was done on tape recording with WVPO's platter-spinner, Toni Spaulding interviewing men from the Stroudsburgs and surrounding vicinity for her radio program. Assisting Miss Spaulding in the recording date was Joe Webster, WVPO program director.

The men who were interviewed were asked also to make requests for their families and friends. A group consisting of Webster, Miss Spaulding, Gerald Shanley, former commander of Company G, and Gerald P. O'Neill, owner of the Penn-Stroind hotel, left Stroudsburg yesterday morning at 9:30 for Camp Kilmer.

Among those interviewed at the camp were: Warrant Officer Lawrence Schoenberger, Lt. Howard J. Lee, Sfc. Melvin W. Curtis, Sfc. Angelo J. Dellaria, Sgt. Nelson P. Silfee, Sgt. Paul H. Strunk, Sgt. Russell P. Titus, Cpl. John W. Bensley, Cpl. Horace A. Price, Pfc. William M. Friese, Sfc. Harold Elsenberger, Sgt. Charles E. Heller, Pfc. Arthur A. Winston, Sfc. Roy E. Lee, Cpl. Gap Firemen Draft Plans For Dinner

Delaware Water Gap — Members of the volunteer fire company here have started a patrons' list for a benefit dinner which will be staged in the new fire house on January 16.

All funds derived from the patron contributions and net profits of the dinner will be devoted to liquidating indebtedness on the new fire house, new equipment and to general improvement of the company.

Phil Farber and Fred Decker, the fire chief, are co-chairmen of the drive for patrons which will cover every citizen in this community and adjacent regions.

Firemen hope that they will be able to raise a substantial amount

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 5. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the check figures give you.

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

Saturday rolls into view quicker than the bill collector each week, so it's about time we delve into our weekly Friday morning check on the football games to feature the weekend activity. However, before getting down to the sad task ahead, it might be a good idea to point out that this column raised its mark five per centage points last week, from 744 to 749. This included 47 correct predictions and 14 of the wrong variety, for a season's total of 358 right and 121 incorrect.

This week's opener is the Stroudsburg-Lehigh tussle that should find the Mountaineers winning without the slightest bit of trouble. In fact, the charges of Coach Jerry Stulgaitis should run up their highest point-total of the season. However, on the other hand it appears as if Rider College may have just a little too much power for East Stroudsburg State Teachers College. It will be the last game of the season for both local grid machines, with East Stroudsburg High having already completed its 1951 campaign.

On the national front it appears as if Georgia Tech will decision Alabama, Albright will edge Muhlenberg, Arkansas will nip Southern Methodist, Pennsylvania will gain revenge for a long string of setbacks at the hands of Army and Georgia will gain a narrow victory over Auburn. Baylor will down Wake Forest, Villanova will decision Boston College and Boston University will take the measure of Wichita. Bradley should edge Bowling Green, Brigham Young over New Mexico and Brown over Harvard, with Bucknell winding up an undefeated season against a troublesome Delaware eleven.

Undefeated San Francisco should remain in that condition against the California Aggies, while California crushes Oregon, Carnegie Tech nips Westminster, Chattanooga trips Memphis State and Cincinnati rolls over Xavier. VMI will gain a narrow margin of victory over The Citadel, Clemson will flatten Furman, Syracuse will take the measure of Colgate, Colorado A and M will down Utah, Colorado College will decision Colorado Mines and Colorado State should fall before Colorado. In the toughest choice of the day this column picks Navy over Columbia, on nothing more than a hunch.

Connecticut should humble American International, Cornell will trounce Dartmouth, North Carolina State will edge Davidson and Dayton will gain the nod over Marshall. Denver will clip Utah State, Marquette will nip Detroit, but only by the skin of its teeth, and West Chester Teachers will decision Drexel, without too much trouble. In another close ball game this writer liked Duke over William and Mary with Miami trimming Florida and Temple edging Fordham. Kentucky will roll over George Washington.

Hardin-Simmons will edge Loyola, of California, Swarthmore will down Haverford, Holy Cross will nip the Quantico Marines, while Illinois gains an important verdict over Ohio State, in a real good ball game, and Michigan State rolls over Indiana. Oklahoma will trim Iowa State, Wisconsin will make music against Iowa. Western Maryland will swamp Johns Hopkins and Missouri will edge Kansas State. Oklahoma A and M will trim Kansas, Lehigh will down Lafayette, but not by as much as some people think, and Louisiana State will decision Mississippi State.

Washington and Lee's Generals will defeat Louisville in a good ball game, while Maryland protects its undefeated rating by taking the measure of North Carolina State and Massachusetts downs Tufts. Miami, of Ohio, rates the nod over Western Reserve, while Northwestern is a very uncertain choice over Michigan. Purdue is my choice over Minnesota, a choice I'll probably regret. Tennessee will roll over Mississippi, Washington State will be too much for Montana State and New Hampshire will trip Kent State, although the latter has fielded a strong eleven this season.

Notre Dame, on the rebound, will deal Coach Carl Snavely another headache, by trouncing North Carolina, while Ohio takes the measure of Eastern Kentucky State and Stanford track by downing Oregon State, in the number one attraction on the Pacific coast. San Francisco should keep rolling at the expense of the College of the Pacific, Penn State will edge Rutgers and with all fingers and toes crossed, this corner will stick its neck right on the chopping block in picking Pittsburgh to down West Virginia. The Panthers have only lost seven straight times this season.

Princeton won't have any trouble with Yale, Rice will nip Texas A. and M. In another terrific battle, St. Vincent will down St. Bonaventure and Santa Clara will nip San Jose State. Virginia will topple South Carolina. Texas is my choice over Texas Christian, Vanderbilt will decision Tulane.

ESSTC Lists Seventeen Games On Basketball Schedule

Warriors To Fight Eight Battles Home

Oscar J. Liljenstein, director of athletics at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, yesterday released the 1951-52 basketball schedule, consisting of 17 games. Eight of the battles are to be fought in the Normal Hill gymnasium, with seven of them slated to get underway at 8:15 p. m.

The season opens on Tuesday, December 4, with Fairleigh-Dickinson supplying the opposition, on the Normal Hill court. This is the initial time that Fairleigh-Dickinson has appeared on any ESSTC schedule.

Action on the basketball front comes to an end on March 8, with Wilkes College providing the opposition, also on the ESSTC hardwood. Coach Ed Shay will direct the Warriors this season.

Other Sports
The girl's cage machine, under the guidance of Genevieve Zimbar, will take part in five games this season, three of which will be played on the home court.

Six swimming meets are listed for the Normal Hill contingent, three in the home pool and the same number on the road. Frank Grimm will direct the destinies of the ESSTC swimmers.

Coach George Ockershausen will lead the Warriors into seven wrestling bouts, four on the home mat and three on foreign terrain.

The entire winter schedule is expected to be completed by March 8.

Grid Coach Gives Gate To Hunters
Frederick, Md., (AP)—Four seniors and seven other players were suspended from Frederick High school's football squad by Coach Homer Brooks yesterday because they went rabbit hunting instead of turning out for practice.

"If they'd rather go rabbit hunting," Brooks declared, "then it's time for them to trade in their football suit for a shotgun."

First Day
This was the first day of rabbit season in Maryland.

This leaves Brooks with a squad of only 23 players to meet Suitland High school at Maryland Park today at 2 p. m. But that didn't affect Brooks' action.

No one could learn if the players got any rabbits.

Saylorburg Club Holds Meeting

Saylorburg — Saylorburg's baseball entry in the Pocono Mountains League held a routine business meeting here at the Lake House last night, during which plans for the future were discussed.

Plans for a coming banquet also came under discussion by the group in attendance.

Bloomsburg Meets Indiana Foe

Bloomsburg, Pa. — Ten seniors will be playing their last game for the unbeaten and untied Bloomsburg State Teachers College Huskies when they wind up the 1951 grid campaign tomorrow afternoon against a strong Indiana Teachers squad at Athletic Park. The Huskies, newly-crowned champions of the State Teachers College Conference, must win in order to compile their second perfect season in four years.

Leading the seniors in their final appearance in maroon and gold livery is Bob Lang, the brilliant tailback from Milton. The 205-pound senior is enjoying his best season since joining forces with the Redman crew four years ago. He is fifth in the state scoring race with 11 touchdowns to his credit, and he is the Huskies' best ground gainer with 623 yards to his credit. His average per carry is nearly 10 yards.

Swoyersville High In Rugged Football Test

Harrisburg, (AP)—Four games to clear western title races and a rugged test for a top eastern eleven highlight this weekend of the fast-expiring 1951 Pennsylvania schoolboy football campaign.

The championship picture should be cleared up in the WPIAL's top three classes while two unbeaten teams will battle for the inter-county title in Hollidaysburg. Most of the eastern teams take a breathing spell in preparation for the big Thanksgiving Day finales.

Bellwood-Antis, boasting 27 straight victories, goes against once-scored-on Beaverdale in the Inter-County league clash in the Johnstown - Altoona area. The Beavers yielded their first touchdown of the season last week to Roaring Springs while capturing the class "B" toga of the Western Conference.

Bellwood-Antis, which won the Inter-County title playoff last season, finished second behind Cone-maugh Township in the class "A" ratings although both won ten consecutive games this year. Bellwood is a slight favorite in what looks like a nip and tuck battle.

Other top games across the State with the probable winners (783 average for the season, 292 right, 81 wrong, 20 ties):

Swoyersville at Larksville (tomorrow)—Unbeaten, untied Swoyersville, tabbed by many as the top team in the State, meets the twice-beaten Larks in a rugged test for the Sailors' bid for Eastern Conference honors.

Monessen at Duquesne (tonight)—This game determines whether Farrell or Uniontown meets Muncie November 23 for the WPIAL class "AA" title. Should Monessen (2-6-1) win, Uniontown gets the nod. A Duquesne (3-5-0) victory gives the nod to Farrell. It looks like Duquesne by a shade.

Mt. Pleasant Ramsay vs. New Brighton at Dormont (tonight)—This scrap for the WPIAL class "A" title finds Ramsay, loser only to Wilmerding favored over New Brighton.

Wilmerding vs. Jefferson at Washington (tonight)—Both are unbeaten in this playoff tussle for the WPIAL class "B" flag.

Other important games across the State:

East—Danville to nip traditional rival Bloomsburg; Ridley Township to remain unbeaten against Ridley Park; Dunmore to upset Coal Township; Old Forge to down Carbondale; Nesquehoning over Blythe Township and unbeaten Frankford to win a Philadelphia public league game over Lincoln High.

Central—Williamsport to smother Lock Haven; Jersey Shore over Tyrone; Lebanon over Steelton; Lancaster to edge York; Hanover to nip Waynesboro; Mechanicsburg over Chambersburg and Milton over South Williamsport.

McDougald's selection over Orestes "Minno" Minoso of the Chicago White Sox, 13-11, was somewhat of a surprise. Minoso outbatted the Yankee second baseman-third baseman 336 to 306 and led the league with 14 triples and 31 stolen bases.

Centerfielder Mays of the pennant-winning Giants drew the expected overwhelming vote despite his late season slump. The 20-year-old Negro from Birmingham, Ala., had 18 votes. Chet Nichols, Boston's flashy southpaw pitcher, had four votes and Clem Labine, Brooklyn righthander, had two.

With McDougald and Mays as top rookies and Yankee Yogi Berra and Brooklyn's Roy Campanella most valuable, the three New York teams swept all the honors.

The committee making the awards is composed of three writers from each city in each league.

McDougald was the only member of the world champion Yanks to hit over .300.

In the American league most valuable voting Minoso was fourth with one first place vote and 120 points. He wasn't too far behind Berra's winning 184 points. McDougald was ninth with 63 points. Although Mays slumped badly in the last month of the pennant race and did little in the playoff and series, he wound up with a .274 average for 121 games. Shortly after he was brought up from Minneapolis where he was hitting .477, the Giants shook off their slump and began to climb.

Manager Leo Durocher moved Bobby Thomson from center field to make room for Mays, a spectacular fielder with a strong arm and great speed. Only a year and a half out of high school, Mays hit 20 home runs and drove in 68 runs.

Nichols, 20-year-old Braves' left-hander, finished with an 11-8 record including three shutouts and 12 complete games in 19 starts. His father was a National league pitcher many years ago. The Milwaukee grad beat "Preacher" Roe in the final days of the season in a great battle that broke Roe's win streak.

The Husky forward wall will also feel the effect of graduation. In the line losses are such familiar Husky names as Bob Thurston, a clever end from Sunbury; Dave Evans, 230-pound tackle from West Reading, and fiery Russ Looker, a great tackle from Johnstown; hard-hitting, sharp-blocking Don Cesare, 260-pound offensive guard from Old Forge; three dependable centers, all from nearby Mahanoy City—Tom Shukis, Tom McLaughlin, and Frank Sheehan.

Carter Picks Up Fat Check, New Admirers

By Bob Myers

Los Angeles (AP)—Lightweight champion Jimmy Carter of New York picked up the biggest paycheck of his life yesterday and with it a host of new admirers for the beating he handed Los Angeles' now tarnished "Golden Boy" of the ring, Art Aragon.

The champion also picked up another challenger for the title. George Parnassus, manager of ranking lightweight Rudy Cruz, announced he would post a $2,500 weight-appearance guarantee with the boxing commission, basing his challenge for the crown on the act that Cruz whipped Carter here a November, 1949, long before Jimmy won the championship.

Announcement

And Aragon, nursing a well battered countenance from the 15-round licking, had an announcement too. His manager, Jimmy Roche, said Art is quitting the lightweight division and will campaign from here on as a welterweight.

The two are forever changing their collective mind, however. Only Wednesday night Aragon and Roche denied that making the 135-pound limit weakened him, and Aragon insisted he would continue to fight in the division.

Gonzales Stops Heath In Six

Mt. Carmel, Pa., (AP)—Ralph "Kid" Gonzales, Mt. Carmel, came from behind last night to knock out Al Heath, Asbury Park, N. J., in the sixth round of the windup on a five-fight card.

Gonzales weighed in at 140½ while Heath scaled 153½.

The end came in one minute and 12 seconds of the sixth round in the scheduled eight rounder. Until that time Heath had been leading on points.

Supporting Card

In another eight round bout, Al Capers, Philadelphia, 151½, was too much for Tony Wolfe, Lebanon, 161½, and won the decision over his heavier Lebanon opponent.

Wolfe went down for a count of nine in the sixth round but lasted out the fight.

Other results (all four rounds): Manny Bowser, Reading, 140, decisioned Ira Steele, Philadelphia, 147½.

Herman Murphy, Pottsville, 142½, defeated Frank Alotti, Allentown, 148 in 123 of the second round.

Sentencing Of Fix Figures Postponed

New York, (AP)—General Sessions Judge Saul S. Streit yesterday postponed until Monday the sentencing of basketball fixer Salvatore T. Solazzo and of 14 players.

Guilty

Solazzo has pleaded guilty to 28 counts of an indictment charging that he bribed college basketball players to rig the scores of games.

Judge Streit also postponed until Monday the pleading of Edward Gard, former Long Island University player, to an indictment charging bribery and conspiracy.

Bucknell Coach Warns Charges Of Revengeful Delaware Foe

Lewisburg, Pa., (AP)—Bucknell's unbeaten Bisons, shooting for their thirteenth straight win, received a warning yesterday from Coach Harry Lawrence.

Lawrence told his boys that number 13 and accompanying superstitions do not have him worried.

out that he is alarmed about the 70-man squad he said the University of Delaware is sending here for the season's finale tomorrow.

"We're in for the toughest game of the year," Lawrence said. "Delaware has had from two to four men scouting us all year. They probably know our plays better than we do and they want to win this game badly."

Ruled Season

It was Bucknell that kept Delaware from an unbeaten and untied season back in 1949. The Lawrencemen won that encounter 13-7. Tomorrow's game will give the visitors a chance to even the score.

Lawrence feels that Delaware's five and two record, with losses only to Temple and Connecticut, is such that the Bisons can ill afford to be in anything but an "up" mood.

Bucknell also will be shooting for a new eastern ground-gaining mark tomorrow. The Bisons, averaging 462.6 yards per game, are just a fraction of a yard behind the pace set by Army's 1945 team spearheaded by Felix "Doc" Blanchard and Glenn Davis. That team averaged 462.7 yards.

Rain cancelled plans for a short scrimmage here Wednesday. Yesterday afternoon's practice was devoted chiefly to blocking drills.

Commercial 'C' Rolls

Commercial "C" league leggers are listed for action today on the Harmon alleys, at 9:15 p. m. Schedule follows:

Alleys three and four—Regina Hotel vs. Worthington Mower.

Alleys five and six—Kreamee Ice Cream vs. Lanterman's Funeral Home.

County Delight Favored In Pimlico Special

Baltimore (AP) — The combination of County Delight and Eddie Arcaro was tabbed by the odds-makers yesterday as the probable favorite for today's fifteenth running of the Pimlico Special, America's sportiest horse race.

County Delight, bay four-year-old son of Count Fleet, will be coupled in the betting for the mile and three-sixteenths of the Maryland Jockey club's gladiator race with Royal Governor.

It is the only betting entry in the five-horse field. County Delight is owned by the Rokeby Stable of Paul Mellon, Pittsburgh financier and sportsman. Royal Governor is the property of Mrs. E. Du Pont Weir, Wilmington, Del. socialite. Both horses are trained by J. E. Ryan. County Delight won the Dixie Handicap here last spring, only time the horse has raced at Pimlico.

Jockey Helps
With the entry listed at eight to five, largely because Eddie Arcaro will be aboard County Delight, the experts made Bryan G. a close second choice at two to one, for the $15,000 winner-take-all race.

Bryan G., owned by Christopher T. Cheney, New York and Virginia sportsman, is the junior varsity in the stable that boasts the 1950 horse of the year — Hill Prince. The Prince, along with Counterpoint — the 1951 champ pro tem — are missing from the special because of recent injuries. Bryan G. broke the mile and one-eighth track record in winning the West Chester Handicap three weeks ago at Jamaica.

The field is completed by Call Over, owned by the Bedford Stable of Albert Catterall, New Bedford, Mass., and Oil Capitol, joint property of A. E. Reuben, Toledo, Ohio, and Mrs. Harry Trotter, Toledo, Ohio. Call Over, winner of the recent Trenton Handicap where he beat Hill Prince, is listed at three to one, and Oil Capitol, four to one. Oil Capitol captured the Butler Handicap last Saturday, but is a doubtful starter today.

AP Scribe Goes Upset Crazy In Picking Ohio State, Alabama, Oregon State To Gain Nods

By Will Grimsley
New York, (AP) — Astrologers say the sun is in Scorpio and the influence of Gemini is still strong. If you believe our destinies are guided by the stars, then you know that under these signs this is time for serious second-thought. Don't take chances. Avoid playing hunches. Safety is the best policy. Okay. You take Gemini. We'll go with hunches today and predict the gosh-darndest, upsettling football weekend you ever saw.

From the same crystal ball that gave you Southern Cal over California and Stanford over Southern Cal, we offer:

Oregon State over Stanford: Charley Taylor, Stanford's new coach who has predicted all his team's victories this year, says the Indians will prevail if they play their best game. They won't.

Alabama over Georgia Tech: After losing four games in the early fall, the Crimson Tide is rolling again. With a bowl bid already salted away, Tech is no longer hungry.

Ohio State over Illinois: Coach

"Woody" Hayes is using music from a phonograph to stir up his Buckeyes. Vic Janowicz' churning legs play a dirge for the bowl-minded Illini.

Texas over Texas Christian: Not even Gemini can fathom the Southwest Conference. But the Longhorns should hand TCU its first league setback.

Navy over Columbia: The Midways have to bust loose with a touchdown barrage one of these days since such power can't long stay dormant. Columbia gets the full impact of the awakening.

Maryland over North Carolina State: Our Washington operative, BH-2, insists N. C. State has Maryland's number and may pull the day's biggest surprise here. Sorry, we won't buy that.

William & Mary over Duke: That is one of the day's "pick 'em" games. Home enthusiasm pulls W&M through.

Michigan State over Indiana: Inserted this one here just to have something to grab in case the roof falls in.

The others:
East — Penn over Army, Cornell over Dartmouth, Princeton over Yale, Villanova over Boston College, Syracuse over Colgate, Penn State over Rutgers, Bucknell over Delaware, Boston University over Wichita, Pittsburgh over West Virginia, Brown over Harvard, Temple over Fordham, Lehigh over Lafayette.

Midwest — Wisconsin over Iowa, Michigan over Northwestern, Marquette over Detroit, Missouri over Kansas State, Colorado over Nebraska, Bradley over Bowling Green, Purdue over Minnesota, Kansas over Oklahoma A&M, Oklahoma over Iowa State, Cincinnati over Xavier.

South — Georgia over Auburn, Miami (Fla) over Florida, Louisiana State over Mississippi State, Richmond over Virginia Tech, Kentucky over George Washington, Clemson over Furman, Notre Dame over North Carolina, Virginia over South Carolina, Tennessee over Mississippi, Washington & Lee over Louisville, Vanderbilt over Tulane, Virginia Military over The Citadel.

Southwest — Baylor over Wake Forest, Tulsa over Texas Tech.

Phils Seek New Home For Farm

Buffalo, N. Y. (AP) — Joe Reardon, director of farms for the Philadelphia Phillies, asked officials of the Pony Baseball League yesterday for permission to move the Bradford, Pa., club to another city. Reardon specifically mentioned Welland, Ont., Erie, Pa., and Geneva, N. Y., as the cities in which the Phils were interested.

Annual Meeting
He appeared at the annual meeting of the class "D" league. No immediate action was taken on the request.

The league reelected Vince McNamara of Buffalo as president for a three-year term.

Penn State Sets Attendance Mark

State College, Pa. (AP) — Penn State's four home football games set a new attendance record at Beaver Field this year, topping the previous mark by more than 10,000.

Figures released yesterday by the college show the 1951 attendance at 80,023 compared with 69,036 last year. The record was aided by the new single game high of 30,449 persons who witnessed the October 20 game with Michigan State.

Virginia Faculty Committee Demand Meets With Opposition

Charlottesville, Va., (AP)—A faculty committee's demands that the University of Virginia de-emphasize football ran head-on yesterday into opposition from two sources.

First, the university's department of education rejected the committee's report seeking the de-emphasis by an overwhelming margin. The vote was 21-1.

Later in the day, the Charlottesville and Albemarle County Alumni chapter announced it had passed a resolution endorsing the university's present football program.

Long Discussion
After a two-hour discussion, the education faculty said in a statement it "does not believe that facts relating to the present athletic policy and its administration at the university justify the demands made in the report of the athletic committee of the academic faculty for exclusive faculty control of policy and administration."

The education faculty's action was not indicative, however, of which way the proposal will go. Before adoption as university policy, the committee's report must be endorsed by the 21-member university senate in which the education faculty has only one vote.

Character To Be Scored In Football

Swarthmore, Pa. (AP)—Proponents of de-emphasis in college football should take a trip to the Swarthmore college campus tomorrow where they're going to score character as well as points in the Swarthmore-Haverford college game.

Two "character officials" will sit in the press box with their "character score cards."

Observe Respect
These two gentlemen will be observing which players show the most respect for the authority of the officials; which players and team have the will to compete; bench conduct, player conduct, fan conduct, mental poise, alertness, "perfection, physical fitness and appearance."

After the game, the two "character officials" will consult with the game officials and the coaches of both teams for their reactions to these same qualities. On the basis of points awarded for each category, the top individual character display and the team showing better traits will be chosen.

Ten Seniors In Final Contest

Bethlehem—Ten seniors will be playing their last collegiate football game under the banner of Lehigh University tomorrow afternoon when the Engineers oppose Lafayette's eleven in the eighty-seventh game of the nation's longest rivalry. Kickoff for the game in Liberty High school stadium is 1:30 p.m.

Seniors who will be playing their final game for the Brown and White will include six linemen and four backs:

Missing
Next year, Coach Bill Leckonby will be minus Co-captain John Bergman, McKeesport, and Lon Haines, Wilkesburg, ends; Co-captain Richard Pradetto, N. Bessemer, center.

Joe Orr, Altoona, guard; Dave Mesick, Hudson, N. Y. and Bill Henderson, Lancaster, tackles. Backfield players, now in their senior year, are: Bob Borofski, Nanticoke; Herb Weiss, Johnstown; Bob Orlemann, Jenkintown; and Bill Smith, Pittsburgh.
